

Cervical Cancer Awareness Month

Cervical Cancer is highly preventable with regular screening tests and appropriate follow-up care. Vaccines are available to protect against the types of HPV (human papillomavirus) that most often cause cervical cancer. HPV is a very common infection that spreads through sexual activity.

Screening Tests:

Two tests help prevent cervical cancer or find it early—

- 1 The Pap test (or Pap smear) looks for pre-cancers, which are cell changes on the cervix that might become cervical cancer if they are not treated appropriately.
- 2 The HPV test looks for the virus that can cause these cell changes.

How Can I Prevent Cervical Cancer?

- ✓ See your doctor regularly for a Pap test that can find cervical pre-cancers.
- ✓ Follow up with your doctor regarding your test results.
- ✓ Get the HPV vaccine. It protects against the types of HPV that most often cause cervical, vaginal, and vulvar cancers. It is important to note that even women who are vaccinated against HPV need to have regular Pap tests to screen for cervical cancer.
- ✓ Don't smoke.
- ✓ Use condoms during sex.*
- ✓ Limit your number of sexual partners.

*HPV infection can occur in both male and female genital areas that are covered or protected by a latex condom, as well as in areas that are not covered. While the effect of condoms in preventing HPV infection is unknown, condom use has been associated with a lower rate of cervical cancer.

Glaucoma Awareness Month

Get a healthy start this year by learning about glaucoma and taking steps to reduce your risk of vision loss! Glaucoma is a group of diseases that damage the eye's optic nerve and can result in vision loss and even blindness.

Know Your Risk

Anyone can get glaucoma, but certain groups are at higher risk. These groups include African Americans over age 40, all people over age 60, people with a family history of glaucoma, and people who have diabetes.

Take Action

There are many steps you can take to help protect your eyes and lower your risk of vision loss from glaucoma.

- ❑ If you are in a high-risk group, get a comprehensive dilated eye exam to catch glaucoma early and start treatment. Your eye care specialist will recommend how often to return for follow-up exams.
- ❑ Even if you are not in a high-risk group, getting a comprehensive dilated eye exam by the age of 40 can help catch glaucoma and other eye diseases early.
- ❑ Open-angle glaucoma does not have symptoms and is hereditary, so talk to your family members about their vision health to help protect your eyes—and theirs.
- ❑ Maintaining a healthy weight, controlling your blood pressure, being physically active, and avoiding smoking will help you avoid vision loss from glaucoma. These healthy behaviors will also help prevent type 2 diabetes and other chronic conditions.

For the New Year— Personal Inventory: Questions to Ask

From time to time, it's good to take stock of what really matters to you. Give some thought to these eight questions. They may help you make this a more meaningful year:

- 🌱 What do I want more of — or less of — in my life this year?
- 🌱 What do I dream of doing?
- 🌱 What gives my life real meaning?
- 🌱 What do I value in my relationships?
- 🌱 What makes me proud of myself?
- 🌱 What lessons have I learned that can help me grow?
- 🌱 Are there changes I could make that might make me happier or healthier?
- 🌱 How do I want people to remember me?

Healthy Recipe

New World Salmon Florentine

This casserole uses chunks of fresh salmon with a lot of healthy omega-3 fatty acids. It also has real cheese for flavor. Don't use low-fat Swiss—it won't melt properly.

Ingredients

- 2 cups flaked cooked salmon fillet (about 12 ounces)
- 2 cups fresh baby spinach leaves, washed and shredded
- 2 cups cooked tri-color chunky pasta
- 2 stalks celery, sliced thin
- 1-1/2 cups skim milk
- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 2 ounces shredded Gruyere cheese (about 3/4 cup), divided
- 1/4 cup sun-dried tomato pieces, chopped (not oil-packed)
- 1 teaspoon fennel seeds

Directions

- Preheat oven to 375°F.
- Combine salmon, spinach, celery, and pasta in an ovenproof baking dish.
- Heat milk in a small sauce pan; don't let it boil.
- Stir in mustard and half the Gruyere until it melts.
- Add sun-dried tomatoes and fennel seeds.
- Let cook for a few minutes until tomatoes are softened.
- Pour sauce over salmon mixture.
- Top with remaining Gruyere.
- Cover and bake at 375°F for 30 minutes.
